cpmf commercial property market forecast 18/9/08

API, the Stockport-based maker of packaging foils, has named Christopher Ian Charles Smith as group finance director.

Smith, 44, will replace Andrew Robertson who stepped down in March of this year, the company (AIM: APD) said in an announcement to the stock exchange. He will formally join the board at its next meeting on September 23.

Smith is a Chartered Accountant with 17 years industrial experience with Courtaulds, a maker of acrylic fibres, and latterly with Scapa, a listed manufacturer of adhesive tapes and films, where he was finance and IT director for Europe and Asia.

Richard Wright, non-executive chairman, said: "The Board is delighted to welcome Chris as a director and member of the executive management team. He brings considerable experience relevant to API's manufacturing operations and geographical spread and is well qualified to support the Board with its key objective of improving the group's financial performance."
